

Subscription To Aid Band's Tour

The Antioch News is cooperating with members of the Antioch High School Concert Band in an effort to raise money for the band to tour the eastern states next month.

Some 70 band members will begin a subscription drive to this newspaper on Friday, Feb. 13, between the hours of 9:30 a.m. through 2 p.m.

The drive will cover Antioch Township and be under the direction of Joseph Rush, director of the school's fine arts department.

This is only one of the many projects that members of the band have undertaken to raise money for the seven-day tour of the east.

Not only will the youngsters be on tour but they will also play three concerts.

They are scheduled for Pittsburgh, Pa., Gettysburg, Pa., and Madison, N. J.

The youngsters will also tour Washington, D. C., and spend a day in New York City and in Philadelphia taking in the historic sights of the area.

The youngsters in the subscription drive will receive two-thirds of the money for every new subscription received and one-third of the proceeds from every subscription renewal.

Antioch News business manager Harold Gaston also announced that added incentive will be given the youngsters participating in the drive.

The top four subscription writers will receive prizes in addition to the money being contributed for the band's concert tour of the east.

Homes where no one is about will be noted and contacted at a later date for the possible subscription to the paper.

Heart Fund Kickoff

The Kick-off Luncheon of the 1970 Lake County Heart Fund Campaign was held recently in the Waukegan Yacht Club.

Among those present at the luncheon was Mrs. William C. Petty, Chairman of the Antioch Township Heart Fund, and Preston Reckers, Treasurer.

Also present were volunteers from the other 22 communities of Lake County who are dedicated to the Heart Cause and provide not only leadership but much of the work that makes each annual drive a success.

Antioch's goal for the 1970 campaign is $2,000. Mrs. Petty is urging everyone to give generously to the campaign which is be-

Steiskal Rezoning Approved

The Lake County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved the rezoning request of Thomas D. Steiskal and Carol A. Steiskal from urban residential to high-way commercial a tract of land located on the southeasterly side of Grass Lake Road at Klondike Avenue.

The zoning change was approved unanimously and had the recommendation of the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals.

The property will be used to construct a retail bait and sport shop on the premises, with row-boat rental.

It was noted in the petition that the Lake County Health Department had been consulted with reference to a septic tank on the low portion of the land and had approved the location.

The board viewed the premises and based their recommendation on the fact that the area is mostly of a recreational nature and the petitioner believes there is a need for the type of service he wishes to supply and that Grass Lake Road was predominantly of a business nature.

There will be no door-to-door solicitation in Antioch this year. Assisting Mrs. Petty in the campaign as her co-chairman is William Brook, President, Antioch State Bank; Preston Reckers, Vice-President of the Bank and a member of the Board of Directors of the Heart Association of Lake County and a long time friend of Heart Dr. James W. Kopriva, physician co-chairman.

The theme of the Kick-off Luncheon this year was "Eat to Your Heart's Content." A 405 calorie menu was served. Those present received two brochures, "The Way to a Man's Heart," a meal plan to reduce the risk of heart attack, and "Recipes" for fat-controlled, low cholesterol meals.

A movie, "Eat to Your Heart's Content" was shown.

Walsh, Benes Finish School

Irving Walsh of Antioch Lumber Company, and Frank Benes of Benes Construction Co., have just returned from a seminar conducted by Morgan Company, Oshkosh, Wisconsin, manufacturer of doors and woodwork.

The seminar, entitled "Selling by Design", covered all phases of woodwork styling for the construction industry including Colonial, French Provincial, Mediterranean or Spanish, English-Tudor and Contemporary woodwork designs.

All were studied in detail. The proper usage of these items that comprise the permanent furniture of homes and commercial buildings is rated as the foremost element that properly sets the character and mood of any residence or building.

During their stay in Oshkosh they toured the more than one million square feet of manufacturing area at Morgan Company and saw first hand the manufacture of panel doors, sash and flush doors, entrances, mantels, china cabinets, stairwork, windows, blinds and numerous specially millwork items. They were also given a preview of some of the exciting new products and processes which will soon be introduced.

Over 25,000 different items of woodwork are produced in this plant in production runs to supply the door and woodwork needs for the fine homes and public buildings throughout the United States. Morgan specializes in authentic woodwork that is architecturally correct and faithfully reproduced by master wood craftsmen.

Antioch, Vernon Want Depke

Republican Precinct Committee in Antioch and Vernon Townships this week officially endorsed the candidacy of Lake County Chairman Robert Depke for County Treasurer. This brings to eight the number of township Republican organizations that have endorsed Depke.

The Antioch endorsement was announced by Elroy K. Anderson, Chairman of the Antioch Township Republican Precinct Committee. Making the Vernon announcement was C. P. Jankowski.

Depke had earlier received the endorsement of Republican Precinct Committees in Waukegan, Zion, Benton, Grant and Lake Villa Townships. The majority of Avon Township Republican Precinct Committees have pledged to support his campaign.

"These endorsements, together with those I received earlier, are extremely encouraging," Depke said. "Having the support of so many township Republican leaders proves that they want the type of service and administration I have given Lake County over the past years and am pledged to bring to the office of County Treasurer."

Depke said that he intends to continue his ambitious, hard-working campaign that has taken him to every corner of the county in an all-out effort to reach every

Absentee Ballots On Feb. 16

Lake County Clerk Truman G. Gerretsen says the opening date for absentee balloting in the March 17 primary election will be Feb. 16.

Persons who will be out of the county on election day, or those physically incapable of voting at their regular polling place, may apply for an absentee ballot by mail or in person in the Clerk's office in the county administration building, Waukegan.

Gerretsen also reminds persons who are not registered or who may have changed address since the last election to be properly enrolled. There are 90 deputy clerks or registrars scattered throughout the county's 18 townships. You can find nearest registrar by calling either your township supervisor's office or village clerk.

The Clerk said a close relative of military personnel may apply for a serviceman's ballot. After certification the ballot will be mailed to him or her for the primary election.

Schools of instruction for election judges will be conducted on six different dates. Copies of the schedule have been mailed to all judges along with their official commission. The schools will be held on: Feb. 20th at Oak Crest Jr. High School, 2801 Wadsworth Rd. for Zion and Benton Townships; Feb. 23rd at Highland Park High School for Deerfield, for Vernon, Cuba, and West Deerfield township; Feb. 27th at Lake Villa Grade School for Avon, Grant, Lake Villa, and Antioch townships; March 2nd at the Brainerd Building for Libertyville for Libertyville, Warren, Elia, Wauconda, and Fremont townships; and March 4th at West School, Waukegan for Waukegan Township.

The County Clerk's office will be open additional hours on March 13, 14, and 16, for persons who are unable to register to vote during the normal working week. The voter registration office in room 601, County Administration Building will be open until 9 p.m. March 13th; from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, March 14th; and until 9 p.m. on Monday March 16th.

Mrs. William C. Petty, chairman of the Antioch Township Heart fund and Preston Reckers, Jr., treasurer, are shown with Dr. Erich Weis, president of the Heart Association at a recent 1970 Heart Fund Kick-off luncheon. Dr. Weis presided in the absence of Sen. Robert Coulson, chairman.

Tell 'Em Boys

We have received a few complaints recently about some of our customers talking to our opposition on the telephone thinking it is us.

It seems that the opposition doesn't give out its name—for the life of us we can't understand why not—but merely says it is the Antioch paper.

Now, everyone knows that the Antioch News is the Antioch paper.

But we don't leave it at that.

When we get on the telephone we are proud to be the Antioch News and we leave no doubt in anyone's mind what newspaper they are talking to.

Not so the opposition.

Just because we have the largest circulation of the Antioch papers and provide the best service for our customers is no reason for the opposition to take a back seat.

Come on boys.

Tell 'em who you are.

Traffic Light Needed

Every Saturday we go to the Post Office on Orchard Street to get the mail.

We try to make it about 10:30 a. m. because we figure that traffic will be somewhat slower by then.

Every Saturday we get caught in a traffic jam—and with no place to park.

One of the main reasons for the traffic jam is the backup of cars created at Orchard and Main Street.

In case you haven't already guessed, this is our pitch for a traffic signal light at the intersection.

It seems to us that it would be very simple to take a traffic count at the intersection and justify the installation of a signal light.

It would also seem to us that a second traffic signal light in our Village would not be considered too many—as we would have one on each end of town.

The signal light on Lake Street has been working very well and traffic moves along quite steadily except at a few peak hours.

We would petition our village fathers to take this idea to their breast and try to come up with a solution.

We are sure that if they stood inside the village hall on a Saturday morning and peered out they would see what we mean.

Testing Government

you repeatedly find that local government is so bad that it deserves to be scrapped?

On the other hand, do you find Big Government—including federal, state and big city government—so great and noble that it should be the model for all governments in the nation?

In recent years, the significance and magnitude of inefficiencies, bureaucratic waste, conflict of interest and even corruption have been more often demonstrated in Big Government than in local governments.

It is a simple fact that evils of government cannot as readily creep into local government as they can in larger units. Faults can be more readily hidden in Big Government. Only major scandals find their way to the surface, and many of those are promptly hushed up or hidden.

When government is close to the people—as is local government—relatively little can be hidden from the people. If scandals are found, they are readily turned out.

Big Government proponents talk about greater efficiency because of centralization and consolidation of effort. They claim cost savings.

Such claims are wide open to question. Simple logic permits the conclusion that if a specified level of service is to be rendered, then a specified number of people must be available to deliver that service. This is true whether an agency of Big Government or officials of local government deliver such service. The difference may be that more personnel may be employed by Big Government to perform local jobs than would be required if local government did them.

For example, township governments in Illinois maintain roads within their jurisdiction at only 30% to 50% of the cost recorded by larger governmental bodies. Similarly, township costs of handling public aid run 50% or less of comparable costs within other, larger governmental units. This is due largely to the fact that pay scales are not as high in township operations, and frequently volunteer help is used to perform some of the governmental functions involved. Also, there is enforced efficiency, because townships and other local governmental units do not have budgets and funds available that can afford waste.

The matter of money makes a big difference. Big governments generally find ways to obtain the funds they need. Smaller, local governments do not fare nearly as well. Being close to the taxpayer, local governments come under much closer scrutiny on both tax levies and expenditures. Consequently, local governments are sometimes unable to deliver all the services which they perhaps should. The money may not be available.

Yet, the critics of local government promptly blame local officials for "lack of initiative" or "insufficient dedication" or some other inappropriate reason for the failures which lack of money may cause.

Sad but true, most local governments stand with their chins down and their hands out. The hands are not necessarily tied, but they must often be in a palms-up position.

There is a constant challenge to all governments, of course, to improve their operations. This applies to local governments.

They must rid themselves of archaic thinking and archaic methods, if such conditions exist. They must be adaptable to changes which technology and social forces are producing. They must be responsive to the peoples' wishes and the peoples' needs. They must also seek efficiency in everything they do. And, they must be forward-looking toward an ever-changing future.

Your Congressman Reports....

By Cong. Robert McClory

In the President's veto of the Appropriation Bill for the Departments of HEW-Labor, and other Agencies, principal criticism was directed at increases voted by the Congress for impacted school aid. In order to explain the significance of impacted school aid, it is important to review the existing law as well as prior actions of the Congress in providing this form of aid to education.

Beginning in 1950 the Federal government initiated a program of assistance to local educational agencies in areas adversely affected by Federal installations. The Federal Statutes include provisions for construction of school facilities (PL 81-815) and for operating costs (PL 81-874). Payments for school construction are made only rarely where this becomes necessary to meet the impact of substantial increases of students from a Federal installation. The section was applied some years ago with regard to the North Chicago elementary school and high school.

With regard to operating costs the Federal program is divided into two categories. Category (a) payments are made in behalf of students whose parents both live and work on Federal property. Again, the North Chicago elementary and high schools are the principal recipients of Federal aid in this category. The basis for payments under this program is the local educational cost per pupil. There are some 2900 students in this category attending the North Chicago schools, for which the school district received roughly $1.5 million.

The second category for which operating costs are paid by the Federal government includes students with one or more parents who are employed at Federal installation. This second group, or category (b) pupils, is counted when 3 per cent or more of the students of a given school are from homes where parents are thus Federally employed. The basis for this category payment is "one-half of the national or state average per pupil cost." Approximately $1.2 million of this type of Federal impacted aid was paid to 30 Lake County school districts during the last complete school year.

There has been little or no criticism of impacted school aid programs affecting school construction or for the operating costs of category (a) pupils whose parents reside on and are employed at Federal installations. However, the category (b) payments are made in some cases in behalf of pupils who came from substantial private homes on which local property taxes are paid. Infrequently, the home may be located some distance from the Federal installation or facility. In Lake County the major portion of category (b) impacted school aid is received by schools in North Chicago and Waukegan by reason of the employment of large number of military and civilian personnel at Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

ter, the Veterans Administration Hospital, and related Federal facilities. While these Federal properties are located within or adjacent to the North Chicago and Waukegan School Districts, it should be pointed out that they bear no local real estate or personal property taxes from which the schools derive the major portion of their revenues.

Some school districts, particularly those in portions of Maryland and Virginia, which surround the District of Columbia, receive inordinate amounts of Federal aid under the impacted school aid program. However, in the 12th District of Illinois, the largest amounts of impacted school aid are paid to school districts which might otherwise receive substantial amounts of revenues from real estate taxes were it not for the exempt status of the Federal properties.

Notwithstanding the periodic criticism directed against the aid program as it relates to category (b) payments, no satisfactory substitute formula appears yet to have been devised. A logical substitute for the impacted aid program would be to provide a Federal payment in lieu of taxes as is frequently done in regard to public housing and some charitable institution properties. This would undoubtedly provide far more in the way of Federal funds to the affected schools of North Chicago and Waukegan than they now receive.

Several studies have been authorized by the Congress looking toward a revision of the existing impacted aid program. The most recent study, prepared (Continued on page three)

McClory Lauds Crime Fight By Atty. Gen.

Congressman Robert McClory (R-Ill.) today applauded U. S. Attorney General John Mitchell's plan to distribute Federal Crime-fighting funds to Illinois.

According to Congressman McClory, the Justice Department, through its Law Enforcement Assistance Administration will forward almost $11 million to Illinois for planning and action programs to combat crime. This is a sevenfold increase over 1969.

The LEAA program, authorized by the Omnibus Crime Bill of 1968, is the nation's first comprehensive effort to fight crime. Although it is only in its second year, it has been a catalyst for studies of criminal justice systems in every state.

Congressman McClory noted that Illinois, for example, is using part of its 1969 grant to develop new programs directed at organized crime as well as for public education programs concerning narcotics and drug abuse.

A member of the House committee on the Judiciary, Congressman McClory has already begun work on legislation to increase the Federal contribution for fighting crime for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1970.

In his statement on the House floor, Mr. McClory congratulated Attorney General Mitchell for his Department's prompt action in translating the 1970 Congressional appropriation for crime-fighting into meaningful grants to the states and concluded:

"The States must now proceed with the wise and careful use of their grants and we in Congress must begin preparations for an increased Federal role of co-operation and coordination for fiscal year 1971."

McClory, commenting on his role in the federal government's fight against crime, stated that he expected his House Judiciary Committee to take action shortly in the related areas of organized crime, drug abuse and pornography. Further, the Congressman noted that a bill to increase significantly the number of authorized Federal District Judges is expected to be reported by the Judiciary Committee shortly.

Such an increase will, according to Mr. McClory, provide more judges to handle the tremendously increased criminal caseload, thus reducing the crucial time-span between arrest and trial. The Congressman stated:

"Speedy justice must be provided. If the system of criminal deterrence is to work, those found guilty must be quickly punished so that potential criminals will know the risk they take in breaking the law."

Your Congressman

(Continued from page two) by the Battelle Institute, was received by the Department of HEW in December 1969. While this 175-page report suggests a number of possible changes, the major conclusions appear to support a Federal contribution equal to or greater than that which has been made in the past.

The Administration's original budget recommendation of $202 million for impacted school aid provided full payment for category (a) pupils but no support for category (b) pupils. After a full debate of this subject, a majority of Republicans and Democrats in the House voted to add $338 million for a total of $600 million. This sum would have compensated school districts around the country consistent with standards set forth in PL 91-874, both as to category (a) and category (b) pupils.

While the President may have intended originally to eliminate all of the category (b) appropriation, it appeared shortly before the vote on sustaining the Presidential veto that he was willing to compromise this figure to the end that one-half or more of the payments to school districts with category (b) pupils would be made.

Notwithstanding the Presidential veto and the subsequent sustaining of the veto by the House of Representatives, the basic issue remains. Until the Congress acts on a new appropriation bill for the Department of HEW, payments will continue to be made under a "continuing resolution" on the same basis as during the past fiscal year, i.e., $521 million. Whether a compromise in the House of Representatives and Senate can lower this figure substantially is also undecided. At any rate the subject of impacted school aid, particularly in behalf of category (b) pupils, has been placed in sharp focus and deserves to be resolved by appropriate action of the U. S. Congress. In order to help resolve Dialing a wrong number is as easy as 1-2-4.

One slip of a finger, and instead of Harry in Gary, you're talking to Tony in Tucson.

We don't want you to pay for a Long Distance call you didn't mean to make. So if a wrong number ever takes you to some faraway place with a strange sounding name, here's what to do:

First, mumble some appropriate apology, and hang up. (Remember what your Mother always said about talking to strangers.)

Then call the Long Distance Operator and tell her you reached a wrong number. She'll make sure you're not charged for the call. And she'll help you get the right number.

So if a station-to-station call lets you off at the wrong station, the Long Distance Operator will help you get back to where you want to go.

It's kind of like Traveler's Aid for people who go by phone.

We're a lot more than just talk.

Remember When?

By Sally

Every year, along about this time, I find myself feeling sorry for kids growing up in this modern age. . . . Poor little tykes, due to today's way of life, they are, without exception, being deprived of so many things which once went into summer vacations.

I want to tell you how things were in the field of travel during the long ago summers of my childhood. . . . First, I'd like to briefly review how it is today. . . . Parents decide where a vacation will be spent. . . . Reservations are made on a jet plane and away the family goes. . . . The main concern seems to be just how quickly the trip can be made—and none of this dilly-dally business.

Right now, I'm sadly pondering how it is with the children who on countless occasions, have (actually) had breakfast in New York City. . . . lunch in Chicago or St. Louis. . . . And dinner in Los Angeles. . . . No special excitement attached to such a routine. . . . After all, when you've seen one blue sky—high above the world—you've seen them all. . . . So, there is only one thing to do and that is fasten the safety belt and make the best of it until the plane touches down, and the whole boring experience is over for a while.

By contrast, let me tell you it was never that way when one of my childhood vacations was planned. . . . And these, by the way, were always spent in much the same locale—down around Edgewood, Ill., the village of my birth. . . . The trip was always made on the "accommodation" passenger train and believe me, it was appropriately named. . . . The schedule was arranged to accommodate both man and beast. . . . and perhaps I'd better elaborate on that statement. . . . What I mean is this: On one exciting occasion, the engineer coasted to a stop and, with the aid of the flagman and a couple of men passengers, he assisted a mother cow who, for reasons known only to her, decided to welcome her new baby into the world from a spot smack in the center of the railroad track.

This was a surprising bit of accommodation, I'll admit—and I only know of it happening that one time. . . . (Incidentally, that sure made for lively conversation when I arrived at my destination. . . . as I recall, I had to cross my heart and hope to die" before I could convince my little relatives that I was not reciting an original fairy tale.)

All things considered, that day wasn't too unusual, in view of how obliging that train crew was on countless other occasions—such as stopping at an unmarked crossroad to pick up a couple of cans of cream and a crate of eggs for a farmer who, by frantic flag-waving, made known his need as the train puffed into signal-range.

That was traveling on the good old "accommodation." . . . And, while folks along the way were being given a lot of consideration, you may be sure that no kid was bored. . . . Like myself, each one was concentrating on a lunch which had been grandly packed in a shoe box. . . . And what a lunch. . . . Always the same. . . . Two hard-boiled eggs. . . . a couple of minced ham sandwiches, a dill pickle—and a few ginger snaps. . . . Believe me, that was living. . . . And, back then, there was nothing like that ride to whet a young appetite. . . . As I recall, the pangs of hunger would overpower me before I was a mile down the track—and then I went into action. . . . Quite a ritual it was, too, let me say. . . . I mean cracking my eggs on the wooden arm of that red plush seat.

Of course, there is no use to let nostalgia get in the way of the fact that today's travel does have its advantages—such as nice, clean, air-conditioned coaches. . . . Back then, ventilation was created with all windows wide open. . . . This, naturally stirred up quite a breeze—especially when a little traveler stuck her head out the window to get a preview of what lay ahead. . . . And, I was always one to be curious about the matter. . . . This, invariably, led to complications—such as cinders in the hair. . . . the ears. . . . and the eyes. . . . plus a generous coating of soot over the face.

But, it was all a part of the journey—and the physical discomfort was accepted as unavoidable. . . . Accepted, in advance, by Mom who, when she packed a two-week supply of clothing, always included a large bar of castle soap which, when I reached my destination, was put to immediate use as travel stains were removed from hair as well as body.

Back then, it was quite a thrill to sit down in your own home for an early lunch—knowing you would be forty miles away when supertime arrived. . . . Believe me, that was going places.

And boredom had no place in the scheme of things.

Homemakers Make Own Slipcovers

University of Illinois Extension Service in Home Economics held a special class in "Making Slipcovers" at the Lake County Extension Building at the Fairgrounds, Grayslake, on Feb. 6 and 6, said Extension Adviser Mrs. Helen Volk.

24 homemakers from units throughout the county worked two full days under the direction of Miss Clara Dodson, Home Furnishings Specialist, University of Illinois. They got practical experience as they completed slipcovers for three large upholstered arm chairs. Each woman learned how to make the various parts of a unit slipcover. A unit slipcover is one that is made in separate parts. It is easier to handle both when it is being sewn as well as when laundered or cleaned. If one section should happen to become soiled, it may be cleaned without having to clean the entire cover.

The homemakers were interested in learning to measure to get a good fit. They also learned how to mark and cut bias for enclosing long strips of continuous cording. They learned how to add bias pieces for tuck-ins and to add closures for the cushions and back seam. Livid flounces were made with corner inverted pleats.

The following women attended the class. They are now available to help other homemakers in their Extension units, or community learn to make slipcovers. We predict they will have many requests as Spring housecleaning time rolls around. Mrs. Sam Lohrillo, Lindenhurst; Mrs. Mat-how Wantola, Lake Villa; Mrs. Evelyn Greiss, Lake Villa; Mrs. Frank Sus, Lake Villa; Mrs. Geraldine Weber, Ingleside; Mrs. Earl Frye, Mundelein; Mrs. Arthur Zoellich, Mundelein; Mrs. Steven Levandoski, Waukegan; Mrs. Arthur Michel, Libertyville; Mrs. Clarence Rosevear, Libertyville; Mrs. Annette Abbadesse, Libertyville; Mrs. Jas. Maxwell, Gurnee; Mrs. Stanley Evans, Round Lake; Mrs. Jack Williams, Waukegan; Mrs. Edwin Denman, Gurnee; Mrs. Donald Haun, Wildwood; Mrs. Stanley Wojnarowicz, Wildwood; Mrs. Rose Minarik, Ingleside; Mrs. Larena Yost, Ingleside; Mrs. Victoria Anderson, Ingleside; Roberta Francisco, Waukegan; Mrs. Carl Wolf, Barrington; Mrs. Gilbert Clem, Gurnee; Mrs. Peter Snesky, Gurnee.

Lesson sheets are available from the Home Economics Extension Office, Box 356, Grayslake (223-4844) for anyone who requests one, says Mrs. Volk.

Legion Auxiliary

The 10th District American Legion Auxiliary will meet on Thursday, Feb. 19, at the Gurnee American Legion Home. Mrs. John Mould, Waukegan, District President, will conduct the meeting.

February is Americanism month, and the District Americanism Chairman, Mrs. Al Dorn, Mundelein, has arranged to have Mayor Richard Foss of Mundelein as the featured speaker. Mayor Foss, a World War II veteran, will speak on various aspects of Americanism.

All units are asked to bring their flags and flag stands so that there may be a massed presentation of Colors. Color Bearers are asked to wear either white or pastel colors.

All unit presidents are asked to notify their delegates, alternates and members about this meeting. If possible, all Americanism chairmen should also be present.

Mrs. Ray Rathmann and Mrs. Walter Hills are President and Americanism chairman, respectively, of the Antioch American Legion Auxiliary No. 748.

Department (state) Field Representative John Mould and Mrs. Mould plan to attend the 38th Annual National Pilgrimage to the Tomb of Abraham Lincoln, at Springfield, Feb. 12th. The Pilgrimage will be headed by National Commander J. Milton Patrick, who will deliver an address from the Tomb site, which will be carried over a nation-wide network. Mrs. Milton Davidson, National Auxiliary President, will also be a most distinguished guest.

The Springfield Legion Post will host breakfast and luncheon for Legionnaires and Auxiliary guests. "Open House" hospitality was offered guests the evening of Feb. 11.

The Pilgrimage, the speeches, and the Placing of the Wreaths on the Tomb is always a very impressive ceremony, and a rewarding experience for those people in attendance.

MOOSE TOPICS

Thursday, Feb. 5 Chapter night program with Hospital Committee in charge.

Hospital Chairman Barbara Cole and her committee presented a game that was inventive and interesting. The game was played by all the co-workers. The game was guessing what food products were inside of unlabeled cans. The cans were passed around the room. By shaking the can and examining the size of the can, supposedly you could name the contents. Co-worker Lois Rigby was the winner with seven correct answers out of sixteen. She was presented an apron as a prize.

There was an enrollment of new members. Sponsor Dorothy Fuig presented her candidate Rosemary Smith from McHenry. Sponsor Senior Regent Rosemarie Hadley presented her candidates Ruth and Doris Hess, a mother and daughter-in-law. Sponsor Jona-Justus presented her candidate Louise Doll from Antioch. The chapter welcomed our new members and hope they come to our meetings, where we can get to know them.

Junior Graduate Regent Shirley Gehrls was escorted to the altar and she presented the chapter "Women of the Moose Award of Achievement 1968-69." This was an honor for the chapter and for Shirley. This award is for the year Shirley was Senior Regent. Our Junior Graduate Regent was very happy for the chapter and made a little speech. She wants and hopes the chapter receives this award for 1969-70, but she knows this can only happen if the co-workers support and cooperate with each other and the officers.

Co-workers Lee Pacorney and Loretta Miller were escorted to the altar to receive chapter pins, for attending three consecutive meetings. We enjoy their company and want to know these co-workers better.

Winners for the attendance game were co-workers Barbara Cole, Jerri Polson and Collegian Geraldine Mark, for this first meeting in February.

College of Regents Committee had some nice prizes after the meeting. This committee needs the support of co-workers. They have to earn extra money this year.

Important dates announced are:

Thursday, Feb. 12—Executive meeting at Moose Home 8 p.m.

Tuesday, Feb. 17—At McHenry Moose Home, 8:00 p.m., Junior Graduate Regent Shirley Gehrls, our green cap girl is the guest of McHenry's green cap girl. Other co-workers are invited to attend and it would be nice for Shirley if other co-workers joined her at McHenry.

Thursday, Feb. 19—Business meeting at Moose Home, 8 p.m. After the business meeting Library and Child Care Committees are having a cake walk. It's their money making project. These chairmen and their committees need all the support they can get from the co-workers. It would be nice to show them that we're behind them.

Thursday, Feb. 26—Important Ritual practice. All co-workers are invited to attend. There will be refreshments. We need you! A chairmen's meeting within Senior Regent after Ritual practice to discuss chapter project. Ritual practice at 7:30 p.m. sharp.

Sunday, March 1—Mid-Winter Conference in Waukegan at 1:00 p.m.

Remember these dates and please come to the events. The chapter needs all our co-workers and their support.

Friendship members! Academy of Friendship dues are due. Please come in or mail them to Recorder Vivian Clark.

To the co-workers that are ill or have been and others with personal family problems. We miss you and hope to have you back with us very soon. There are far too many names to list, however this means everyone that's been having problems.

The twenty voice choir of the Wesley Free Methodist Church, 3801 L. Lewis, in Waukegan will present the missionary cantata "The Greatest Story Yet Untold," Sunday, Feb. 15 at 4:00 p.m.

Many Cantatas have been written for Christmas, Easter and other special occasions but few have been written to proclaim the Great Commission. Eugene L. Clark brings together great missionary hymns, both old and new in this soul stirring cantata.

Oswald J. Smith, of the Peoples Church, Toronto, Canada, says of this musical rendition, "We have had missions presented by slides and motion pictures. There has been one lack. One method we have not used. We have not brought the great challenge of missions to our people in a cantata. Now we can do it."

The public is cordially invited. For further information call Dean Beguhl, 356-2351.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday, with the Golden Text, from Psalms, "Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation."

Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "We cannot deny that Life is self-sustained, and we should never deny the everlasting harmony of Soul, simply because, to the mortal senses, there is seeming discord. It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony." (p. 390)

The public is invited to attend Christian Science services which are held at 11 a.m. at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Beacon Hill, Rte. 173 and Harden, Antioch, Illinois.

Antioch Dumps Grant

Playing a fine steady game of basketball, the Antioch Sequoits defeated Grant 68 to 55 last Friday evening at Grant.

It was just a case of too much Antioch, as the Sequoits just steadily pulled away from the Bulldogs. The Grant cagers lead only once in the game, 7 to 5 with four minutes remaining in first quarter. With Grant controlling the tempo of the game, the score remained low, but two fine baskets by Steve Bental put the Sequoits on top as the 1st period ended.

In the second quarter, Bental and Marty Romaine continued to score from the outside on the sagging defense put up by Grant. At times during the quarter the Antioch cagers lead by as many as 7 points. With less than a minute remaining, Jeff Taylor of Grant hit a basket and a free throw to narrow the gap to 4 points, 28 to 24 Antioch lead.

As the 3rd quarter opened, Keith Bolton picked up the scoring, as the Sequoits fed the ball inside to Keith. In the first 5 minutes, Keith scored 9 points, as the lead increased to 11 points. During the quarter the Sequoits defense was at its best as Grant hit only two baskets from the outside. Thanks to three rebounds by Taylor, Grant still was in the game. The defense caused Grant to turn the ball over several times and the Sequoits took fine advantage of this, as the quarter came to a close the Sequoits were fast breaking to a commanding lead of 51 to 38.

On two occasions during the middle part of the 4th quarter, the Sequoits opened up a lead of 19 points. With 4:38 left in the game Bolton fouled out, to join Bental on the bench, who fouled out in the 3rd quarter. Tom Effinger and Jim Polley replaced these regulars and did a fine job. In the last 1:40 seconds Jeff Schad and Buzzie Soderman hit for 3 and 2 baskets respectively to make the final score look respectable.

The Sequoits had good scoring balance, as four players hit the double figures. Bolton had 13, Sterbenz with 10, Bental had 12 and Romaine took game scoring honors with 26 points. Jeff Schad lead Grant in scoring with 16 points.

Top rebounders for Antioch were Bolton with 10, Sterbenz had 7 and Tom Martin with 6.

"It was our defense. Grant couldn't solve their zone defense. Our kids are really covering up and moving on the defense as a unit. It's a real pleasure to watch them on defense," quoted Coach Andrews. "It's good to see our reserves play well when called on to fill in when a regular fouls out. We are proud of this team. They have come along in great style," added the Sequoits mentor.

Antioch Grapplers Fall 1-Point Short

The Antioch wrestlers fell one point short in their effort to defend their conference championship. Trailing by four points going into the conference tournament at Wauconda, most felt the tournament was between Grayslake and Warren. Antioch had to wrestle an outstanding tournament to win.

"I don't know if it is worth the time to explain how seeding works but we had 5 boys wrestle about their seeds! only I below."

Almost half of the Antioch team wrestled better than they were rated by the other coaches. Four boys scored in the consolation, as Don White placed 3rd at 165 lbs., while Bruce Carlson (115), Mike Stickler (130), and Mike Ptasinski (185) won fourth.

Going into the championship bouts the team score was Grayslake 84, Warren 88, Antioch 83.

Antioch's Rick Rogers won on a fall in the third period to make the team scores Warren 88, Antioch 87, Grayslake 84.

Antioch's next winner was at 137 where Rick Nelson won 5-2 over Marty Klemm of Warren. This put Antioch in the lead with 90 points with Warren. Antioch had two wrestlers to wrestle and Grayslake with three left.

Antioch's Terry Triplett was upset at 145 by Grayslake's Tom Brennan. Triplett had been sick all week with a kidney infection. Going into heavyweight the score was Grayslake 94, Warren 92 and Antioch 90. Antioch's undefeated heavyweight Mike Ring had to pin for Antioch to tie for the conference title. Ring won but did not pin to leave Antioch 1 point short.

Final standings:
Grayslake 94
Antioch 93
Warren 92
Grant 84

Antioch place winners:
1st—Rick Rogers, 98, Rick Nelson 137, Mike Ring, HW.
2nd—Terry Triplett (145)
3rd—Don White (165)

Again it went to heavyweight, where Rich Brasfield lost 3-1 in overtime. If Brasfield had won, Antioch would have won.

Stock Car Assn. To Hold Meet

Members of the Interstates Racing Association of super modified stock cars will meet this Thursday night, Feb. 12, to elect officers for the 1970 season. The meeting will be held at the VFW Hall in Lake Villa, Ill. A directors' meeting will precede the members' meeting at 8 p.m.

Anyone interested in participating in modified stock car racing at Wilmet on Saturday nights should attend.

This year the IRA group will represent the newest look on the stock car scene, as the modified rules have been changed to allow the look and speed of "supers."

The change will permit the cars to race without tops but will retain the driver roll cage. Another change makes it possible for these cars to race on longer tracks. There has been interest for these cars on half mile tracks at Illiana Speedway and the K-K Sports Arena. Last year these cars also raced at Waukegan, Rockford and Lake Geneva. Racing at Wilmet will open in mid-May.

North Chicago Whips Antioch

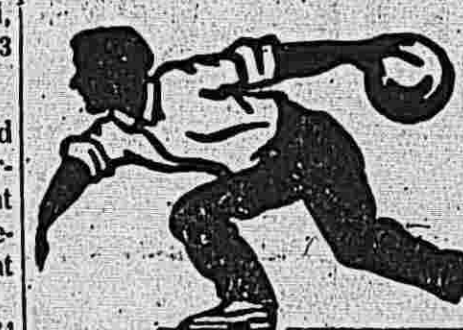

Leading almost all of the game, the Antioch Sequoits faltered in the closing minute and a half to lose to North Chicago 54 to 49 Saturday evening.

Playing just great basketball, the young charging Sequoits held a slight lead all of the first half. On a couple of occasions the lead did open up to eight points—only to have North Chicago close it up to 4 points.

"During the first half, it seemed like I was watching the great team of 66-67 again, what a great job the team did in the opening half," commented the Sequoits coach.

In the third quarter, the Sequoits missed a couple of easy shots early, and then they started to press a little during the quarter. Thus their shooting fell off, as they hit only one of 12 attempts in the quarter. Thanks to some fine defense, the Sequoits still were ahead 41 to 40 as the third quarter closed.

All during the fourth quarter, the game was close, with North Chicago holding the upper hand. With 2:42 left Hall scored a lay-up basket for North Chicago to put them ahead 48 to 45. Then Bolton followed with a lay up

Antioch Club Sets Ice Derby

Antioch's 885 Civic Club will hold its first annual Ice Derby Sunday, Feb. 22, on Lake Catherine, one mile west of Antioch on Route 173, starting at 8 a.m. and continuing all day until 4 p.m.

The all day event will include ice fishing contests for northern pike, walleye, bass, bluegill, sunfish, crappie, perch, striped, catfish and bullheads.

A prize will be awarded for the largest of each of these species every hour. Then at the end of the day a prize will be given for the largest of each of these species caught all day, plus a prize for the largest fish of the day; and one for the oddest fish.

The oddest dressed fisherman (or fishergal) will win a prize, as will the oldest.

Anger and chisel contests will be held, for men and women, and then there will be fishing contests for men, women, and children in the newly made holes.

Sack races for men, women, and children will be on the day's program, followed by a penny scramble for kids up to 6 years old. Five dollars in pennies will be scattered in a pile of straw on the ice and the children keep all the pennies they find.

Also on the day's carnival of events will be figure skating contests and ice skating races. Free snowmobile rides will be given to all who want them, all day long.

A power auger will be on the ice to make holes for the elderly and weak, as well as for those who like to ice fish without too much exertion.

Hot refreshments will be served up on the ice, and in Felter's Subdivision Club House, all day long. Warming salamanders will be spotted at various locations on the ice for the ice-box participants.

Over one hundred prizes will be handed out, including an aluminum fishing boat, complete with 4 horsepower Mercury Outboard Motor; a Remington trap grade shotgun; a Zenith tape recorder; an electric blender; an electric knife; a set of stainless steel knives, plus many more. A more complete list will be announced, as it is completed, some time next week.

Plenty of free supervised parking will be available at Bob's Mercury Outboard, and other well marked places adjacent to the derby scene.

Special rules for all events will be prominently displayed on the ice, as will other pertinent information.

885 Club President James Williams announced the appointment of Roy Pearcey as Ice Derby Chairman.

All of the proceeds (net) of this event will be used to implement the 885 Club's civic programs, Williams said.

Clean Power From Atom Gets Boost

Commonwealth Edison Company's program for more clean power from the atom got another giant boost this week when workmen at Dresden station near Morris, Ill., began installing the huge reactor vessel for the plant's third nuclear unit.

Edison Chairman J. Harris Ward said Dresden 3, the second of two new 80,000-kilowatt units scheduled for operation in 1970, will increase the capacity of the station to more than 1.8 million kilowatts and make it the largest nuclear power plant in the country. The original 200,000-kilowatt Dresden unit has been producing power since 1960 and Dresden 2 is now being fueled and will start producing electricity in the near future.

Citing the station's expansion as a major step in Commonwealth Edison's clean air effort, Ward said that based on initial reactor loadings, Dresden's two new 80,000-kilowatt nuclear units will use about 300 tons of uranium fuel to produce as much electricity as 20 million tons of coal.

The 800-ton, 70-foot-high Dresden 3 reactor vessel recently arrived here after a 630-mile barge trip along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the Illinois waterway. Fabricated in the Mount Vernon, Ind., plant of Babcock & Wilcox Co., it is being installed by General Electric Company, prime contractor on the Dresden project.

According to Ward, Commonwealth Edison's $900 million nuclear program includes two other stations now under construction. They are Quad-Cities station near Cordova, Ill., which will have two 800,000-kilowatt units, and Zion, Ill., station, a two-unit 2,200,000-kilowatt plant.

"Nuclear power's share of Edison's total power production will grow substantially over the next four years," Ward said. "By the end of 1973, seven nuclear units will be producing about 40 per cent of our power requirements and doing it without fumes or smoke."

up to 45 pounds per square foot—according to Frank Henderson, Illinois Bell Telephone Building Engineer.

Keeping tabs on construction of the building and speculating about its lack of windows has become a favorite pastime for commuter sidewalk superintendents.

Some have even speculated that the structure, being built jointly by Illinois Bell and the Long Lines Department of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, is intended to be "blast proof."

Not so, says Henderson. He described it as a "portal" or "gateway" for Chicago's entrance to the long distance network.

Because it is vital to good long distance service in this area, Henderson said, it has been designed to be both "weather and radiation resistant."

The latest in telephone switching and transmission equipment will be moved into the third through 20th floors of the 27-story structure around April, and become operational in 1971. These floors will be windowless.

Some 1,500 administrative employees will occupy the top seven floors beginning next December. These floors, as well as the first floor lobby and second floor cafeteria, will have windows.

The round, 75-foot tall structure atop the building is the first circular microwave tower ever constructed in the nation, Henderson said.

In the event of a disaster, he said, the building would be self-sustaining.

Four emergency electric turbine generators—each with the power of a railroad locomotive—also have been placed atop the building. A two week fuel supply has been stored in the basement.

The building also will have its own emergency well for supplying water and air conditioning if needed, and a two week food stock.

In designing the building, Henderson said that the architectural firm of Holabird and Root tried to insure that it was compatible with the Chicago school of architecture despite the unusual stress requirements.

Expressed beams and columns have been emphasized, he said. The exterior is being put together in pre-cast concrete panels approximately 5 feet wide and 10 feet long. Originally, the panels were cast with ridges and grooves later hammered out to give them a rippled effect. This rough texture is not only designed to make the building more attractive, but to keep it free of dirt and grime.

Here's one of 40 reasons why the electric dryer is a better buy.

Electric dryers are priced up to $40 less than comparable gas models. And, a $40 savings can represent about three years of drying expense free, for an average family of four.

But economy is only part of the electric dryer story.

Electric dryers dry your clothes the same way as the sun... with radiant heat. Your wash will always be sunshine-fresh and wrinkle-free, day or night, in any season. Saving $40 and a lot of trips to the clothesline with a wet basket of clothes are good reasons to put a little more sunshine in your life—the new, radiant-heat electric dryer.

School District No. 33, Lake County, Illinois shall be filed with W. C. Petty, Superintendent Educational Service Region, at his office, Room A904 County Administration Building, Waukegan, Illinois.

Filing hours: 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday, the last date for filing being Friday, March 20th, at 4:00 p.m. The first date for filing petitions is February 25th at 9:30 a.m. The election will be held at the Emmons School building on April 11, 1970.

Petitions may be secured from the Superintendent of the Educational Service Region. A statement of candidacy must accompany all petitions when they are filed with the Superintendent of the Educational Service Region.

Seven members are to be elected. At the organization meeting which will be called by the Superintendent of the Educational Service Region within ten days after the election, the members will cast lots for length of terms.

This election for a seven member board is being held pursuant to a census taken by the Superintendent of the Educational Service Region, Lake County, Illinois. The census reveals that the district has more than 1,000 inhabitants and is therefore required under the School Code to have a board of education of seven members rather than a board of directors of three members.

Japan And The Future

By Charles H. Percy
(During the August Congressional recess, Senator Charles H. Percy of Illinois and his family spent three weeks traveling in Asia. This is the last of four articles by Senator Percy recalling highlights of the tour.)
Japan has played a special role in my efforts as a businessman to expand world trade ties. As President of Illinois-based Bell and Howell, I moved to organize a Japanese affiliate. After a considerable amount of negotiation, my former company succeeded in complying with the rules governing foreign firms that invest in Japan. This joint American-Japanese venture now employs approximately 1,000 persons and is a commercial success for the United States as well as Japan. Employment and sales in the United States have steadily increased throughout this period.

It is with this background that, on the final segment of our world tour, we traveled to Shimoda, Japan to participate in the Second Japanese-American Assembly.

At this meeting, some 35 Japanese leaders in business, government, publishing, education and other areas joined with a like number of Americans to discuss a range of problems that currently affect relations between the United States and Japan.

The main topics that I raised at Shimoda were the consequences of Japan's emergence as a world economic power and the restrictions that Japan presently imposes on manufactured imports.

From the vantage point of Illinois and Washington, D.C., we see a nation across the Pacific that enjoys a high standard of living operating under the world's third largest economy. (It is a very large customer of agricultural as well as industrial and consumer products manufactured in Illinois.)

At the same time, the United States has a strong interest in further substantial moves by Japan toward a liberalization of her trade restrictions, a reform of the import licensing system and in easing of restrictions on direct foreign investment.

America's role in the post-war reconstruction of Japan and Japan's dramatic ascension to preeminent industrial status are now a matter of history. The present time finds us both carefully examining our traditional trade relationships. If that examination brings creative and productive results, then I am confident that a solid foundation can be laid for our mutual trade and continuing friendship and interdependence.

In both the United States and Japan, there are new internal pressures that make it urgent that we place a floor over the pit of human disaster and at the same time continue to raise the ceiling over the level of human individual opportunity. We must show by example, not by preaching, that we are competent to manage our own internal affairs and use our great material wealth to continue the "quiet revolution" that has been going on inside our countries for so many years.

We must show that we can effectively deal with the rapid urbanization of our populations without destroying the quality of life and work. We share in common with Japan a quest for the solution to problems of environmental pollution.

When I drove through the streets of Tokyo and saw the heavy cloud banks of smog rising from automobile exhausts, factory chimneys and back yard garbage disposals it reminded me of the severe problems in Los Angeles.

We must find ways to provide an adequate amount of moderately priced, attractive housing for our people. We must learn to move traffic through our city streets today at least as fast as it used to move by horse and buggy through our streets of yesterday. And mass transit must be developed using new concepts that will move people in large numbers swiftly, economically and in comfort and safety, taking into account a desire for individual dignity and treatment.

Auto Show To Feature Foreign Cars
Prepared to open with more cars than ever before—some 500 in all—the Chicago Automobile Show will have an exciting foreign accent during its nine-day stand Feb. 21 through March 1st in the International Amphitheatre.

More foreign car manufacturers than ever before have taken more space than ever before at a Chicago Show. Leading auto makers from England, France, Germany, Italy, Japan and Sweden will exhibit models. Some of them will be using the Show as a stage upon which to present a new model—one being shown publicly for the first time.

Nameplates that have long stirred the imagination of auto fans the world over will be on hand, as well as some that have never before been shown in Chicago. In all a total of 29 different manufacturers will be present offering at least one model of almost every foreign-made car sold in this country.

The impressive array, which reads like a veritable foreign car "Who's Who" includes Alfa Romeo, Audi, Austin, BMW, Citroen, Datsun, DeTomaso, Ferrari, Fiat, Ford, Lotus, Maserati, Mercedes-Benz, MG, Opel, Porsche, Peugeot, Renault, Rover, Saab, Sata-Spring, Simca, Subaru, Sunbeam, Toyota, Triumph and Volkswagen.

Although some manufacturers prefer not to announce the showing of an all-new model until shortly before show time, aiming for a surprise fanfare, word has been received that a dozen or so of the import manufacturers are planning introductions of new cars. A few will unveil an entire new line.

Firms reported planning new announcements include Datsun, DeTomaso, Fiat, Jaguar, Lotus, Mercedes-Benz, MG, Peugeot, Renault, Rover, Subaru, Toyota and Triumph.

Several of the foreign car firms will join the hit-the-road set with station wagons and van type vehicles which will convert into camping type cars. Volkswagen, for example, will show a nine-passenger van which can be converted into a camper complete with many home comforts.

Donovan Hall, the southernmost exhibition room in the huge Amphitheatre chain, will contain a number of camper units. Chevrolet, Ford, Dodge, International Harvester and Kaiser-Jeep have taken extensive display areas and will show units ranging from small pickup type campers, to large motor homes.

Richard V. Lynch, President of the Show Sponsoring Chicago Automobile Trade Association, reports plans are completed to stage the best Chicago Auto Show in history. "We have everything at hand—production cars, dream cars, related exhibits, celebrities, special displays—everything you would like to see at an auto show and more," Lynch said.

Show hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children 12 and under.
